

← Our Story \(A Timeline\)

Our Story (A Timeline)

December 2015 — The Accidental Beginning

What was meant to be our parents' friends' family holiday turned out to be the first of many holidays together. Think Christmas in Swakop, a long festive table, and two people eyeing each other from opposite ends — no idea that one day we'd be setting our own table.

Spoiler: the longest one yet. Our wedding table.

March 2016 — The 'Not-Quite-Yet' Chapter

We crossed paths again in Cape Town... but timing had other plans. Cue three full years of the friend zone (respectfully). Lashca fought bravely, survived the trenches, and emerged victorious. "A true friend," Nicole always said.

December 2018 — Officially Us

Best friends became best friends who date. Cape Town became our playground — and wow, did we

← Our Story \(A Timeline\)The Blue ST Era

The blue, two-door ST. Iconic. If you saw Lashca and Nicole pulling up, you knew you were about to have the best time. Friends piled in. Road trips happened. Bellville to Century City. Rondebosch to Constantia. Knysna. Hermanus. No plan, just vibes.

← Our Story (A Timeline)

2018 — Degrees & Dreams

We finished our studies and decided we'd start our little life in South Africa. Jobs secured. Exploring continued. (Possibly a bit too enthusiastically.)

← Our Story \(A Timeline\)The Plot Twist Years

Lashca ended up in China (as one does). Nicole landed in a warm, vibrant loft off Bree Street, living the corporate Cape Town hustle. Fun? Yes. The dream? Not quite.

← Our Story (A Timeline)

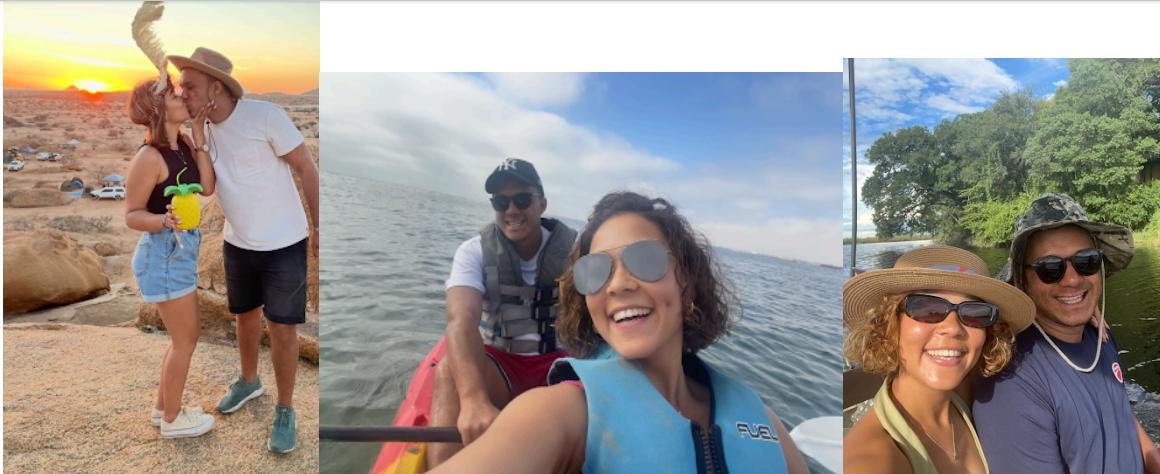

2019 — Back to Where It All Makes Sense

We packed up Cape Town and headed home. Namibia it was. Careers started. Roots planted. Hearts settled.

← Our Story (A Timeline)

The COVID Chapter

A tough time for everyone — but somehow, we built anyway. Businesses grew. Jobs happened. Love stayed steady. And yes... we still found our way back to Cape Town after lockdowns. Some places never leave your story.

Community Is Everything

Over time, Windhoek and Swakop became home in the truest sense.

Our weekends filled with friends, family, padel, Noah and Skylar, and strangers who became lifelong comrades. To be honest, these days we still gather the troops — just not in the blue ST anymore, but around homemade pizza's, tacos or Lashca's steak and Nicole's salads.

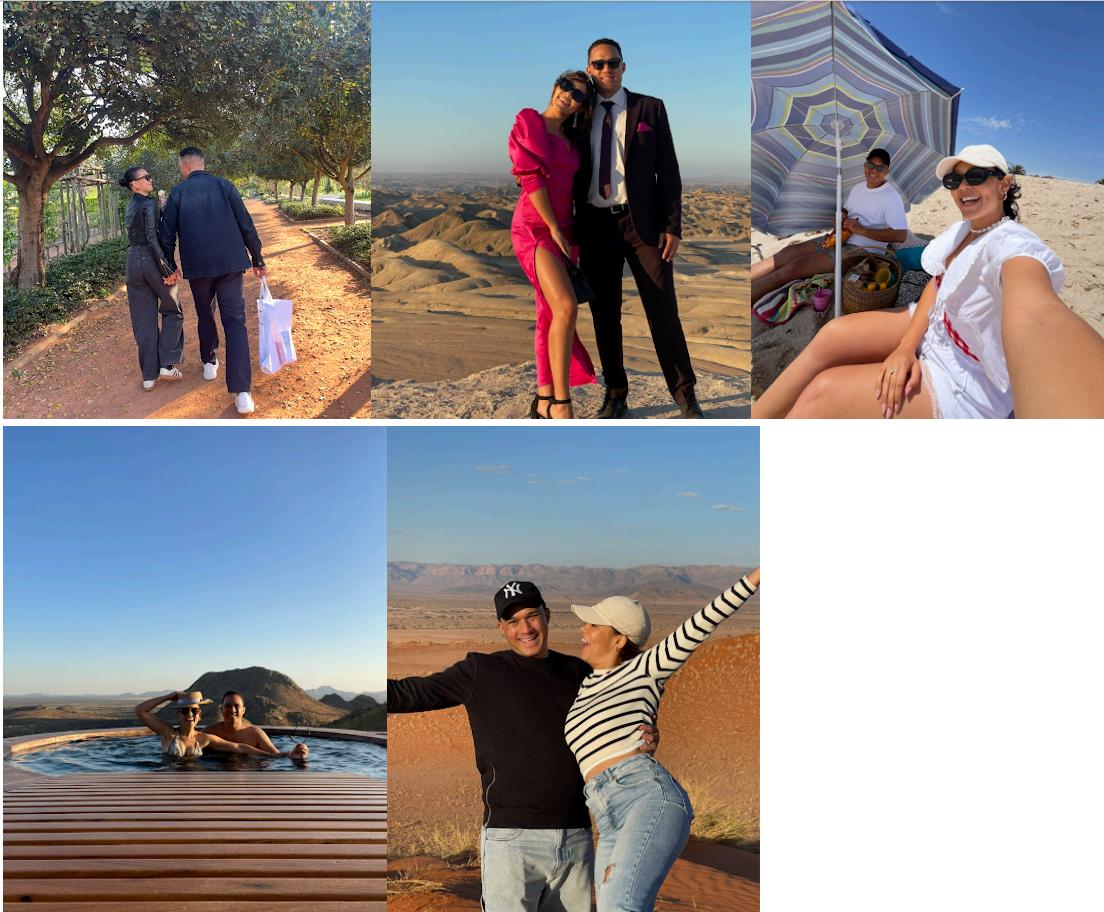

← Our Story (A Timeline)

The Realisation

It clicked: it's not about where you are, but who you're with. Our life felt full. Ours. A story we get to keep writing.

← Our Story (A Timeline)

03 January 2025 — Zanzibar

A quiet shore. A secret little beach. A holiday that changed everything — BOOM — forever. (Lashca's words, obviously.)

← Our Story (A Timeline)

15 Months Later...

Here we are. Walking down the aisle. Sealing the deal. Saying “I do” — for the rest of our lives.

And this? This is just the beginning.

